

“Residential requirement” refers to the minimum period required for students to be physically present on campus. The university appreciates the value and importance of research projects with intervarsity, international, and/or transdisciplinary components, which may require postgraduate students to spend a

